Ben Boxler
benjaminboxler@gmail.com
http://github.com/benjaminboxler

To the team at VISR,

I am applying for this summer position with VISR as I believe it will be beneficial toward my degree in computer science to be able to gain more real world experience and interact with new technologies I may otherwise not get the chance to utilise and create for.

I have had a lot of experience with programming, including working for Expend, a fintech startup in London, as an iOS software engineer for a year from 2015 to 2016. Between leaving that position and starting Portsmouth University in 2017, I had very little opportunity to program or create and I also miss working as part of a tight knit team solving problems.

I have chosen to apply for this summer vacancy as it is in a very unique position that would offer me access to new tools and technologies to be able to build upon, and put me a step ahead of my peers and give me valuable experience in a new sector.

Thank you for your consideration,

Ben Boxler
benjaminboxler@gmail.com